CLEM TILLION – Alaska’s firebrand “Fish Czar,” nine-term state legislator, founder of Halibut Cove, and charter member/past chairman of NPFMC – is the subject of a new, half-hour documentary movie. In this deeply personal film, Tillion reflects on his political career, wild youth, homesteading, risks and regrets, chickens, and true love. Supporting interviews include Ambassador John Negroponte, Linda Behnken, Sam Cotten, Robert Alvarez, Marion Beck, and Vince Tillion.

Magnetic North: Clem Tillion is the first in a series of contemporary films that will explore the personality and character of living Alaskans whose actions and ideas helped define the history, spirit, and values of our young state. Directed by Marla Williams. Produced by the Alaska Humanities Forum in partnership with Rasmuson Foundation.
